The 2009 Tour de France Breakfast Series invites you to gain insight to the Tour with five time Tour rider Patrick Jonker. Plus, you'll walk away armed with plenty of reasons why you should spend more time on your bike!

PATRICK JONKER

Patrick Jonker is one of Australia's cycling success stories. Turning professional in 1993, he rode his first Tour de France in 1994, ultimately competing in a total of five Tours. He also spent many years racing the Tours of Italy and Spain and has partnered some of the sport's greatest, including Lance Armstrong.

His dazzling career saw him win 15 races, including the 2004 Tour Down Under. Patrick's understanding of the Tour de France is unsurpassed and will provide a brilliant insight into some "behind the scenes" moments of past Tours, not to mention an expert opinion on what's happening on this year's Tour.
